

At the Goethe University, Frankfurt am Main, Institute of Archaeology, Department for Archaeology of the Roman Provinces and Archaeology of Coinage, Money and the Economy in Antiquity, we are looking for a

Academic staff member (wissenschaftlicher/e Mitarbeiter/in) (m/f/d)

(E13 TV-GU, 70%)

The position is available for three years, starting 01.01.2025, with a possible extension of another three years.

Job Description

Teaching (3 hours/week) within the BA and MA-programme 'Archaeology of Coinage, Money and the Economy in Antiquity', student advisor, preparation of grant proposals, support in organizing INC 2027, assisting in managing the numismatic collections and numismatic library of the department, independent research. The job is intended to serve the further academic qualification of a junior researcher (postdoctoral level)

Job Specifications

An outstanding PhD (or one close to completion) in the field of ancient numismatics, preferably with a research profile in Greek numismatics (or roman provincial) (as testified by a publication record). Experience in academic teaching is recommended, as well as an interest in obtaining a certificate in academic teaching. A very good command of the German language is necessary, and should be obtained in the course of the first year on the job at the latest.

Applications should include

- CV, list of publications, and (if applicable) an overview of courses taught
- Copies of your MA/MSc- and PhD-degree
- A copy of up to three papers you published and/or a chapter of your PhD-thesis (max. 50 pages).
- A description of the research project you wish to pursue (or are currently pursuing) in the field of ancient Greek numismatics.
- Names and contact details of two references

Applications should be sent in electronically no later than September 30, 2024.

Prof.Dr. Fleur Kemmers
Goethe Universität Frankfurt am Main
Institut für Archäologische Wissenschaften, Abt. II
Norbert-Wollheim-Platz 1
D-60629 Frankfurt am Main
Germany
kammers@em.uni-frankfurt.de tel: 0049-69-79832281

This is also the address to contact for any further information